

NEWS BRIEFS

Day's wrap: Dior, Valentino, Hugo Boss, Lanvin and Twitter

July 11, 2022

Dior claims Valentino restricted sales in its Rome boutiques due to the Italian house's show at the Spanish Steps. Image credit: Valentino

By LUXURY DAILY NEWS SERVICE

Luxury Daily's live news for July 11:

Dior requesting compensation from Valentino

French fashion house Dior is supposedly requesting more than $100,000 in compensation from Italy's Valentino over a claim the Italian house hampered business during its couture show in Rome.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Hugo Boss, Bape team up for capsule collection

German fashion house Hugo Boss has partnered with Nigo's Mr. Bathing Ape brand to reveal a new capsule collection.

Lanvin Group set to expand portfolio after IPO

Shanghai-based luxury fashion group Lanvin Group is reportedly looking to add a fashion brand to its portfolio after going public on the New York Stock Exchange later this year.

Twitter shares drop amid wavering Elon Musk deal

Twitter shares fell nearly 6 percent on July 11, equivalent to $1.8 billion in market value, as tech billionaire Elon Musk looks to back out of a $44 billion deal to purchase the social media platform.

Please click here to read the morning newsletter
