Rosewood Schloss Fuschl, is nestled on the banks of Lake Fuschl, and is set to reopen in 2023. Rosewood is taking control of the beloved Hotel Schloss Fuschl, a historic space that is known to emanate idyllic vibes.

"We are pleased to continue our growth in Austria with the addition of this beautiful and tranquil lakeside property," said Sonia Cheng, CEO of Rosewood Hotel Group, in a statement.

"Complementing the opening of Rosewood Vienna, this property expands our presence in this storied destination with a unique resort offering," she said. "Reimagining and restoring historic spaces has become an integral part of Rosewood's brand DNA, and we are honored to be entrusted with continuing the legacy of this notable property."

Like a fairytale

The new Rosewood property joins the group's presence in Austria as its second offering alongside the recently opened Rosewood Vienna.

Located on Lake Fuschl, the property is surrounded by verdant Austrian mounts and forests. The hotel is also close to Salzburg, a beloved Austrian city.

The full renovation, slated to begin this year, is aiming to update the structure of the property to hold 98 guestrooms, including 46 suites and six chalets. The property will also house restaurants, lounges and Rosewood's well-being concept Asaya.

Rosewood Vienna, which opened earlier this summer, was the first time the group ventured into Austria.

Marking the fifth European property in its portfolio, Rosewood Vienna is located at Petersplatz, one of the city's most visited squares. The new hotel boasts 71 guestrooms and 28 suites (see story).
