The dinner is being held to support the end to gender-based violence, honoring four organizations that work to support women. The event is being cochaired by Mexican-American actress Salma Hayek Pinault and her husband Francois-Henri Pinault, chairman and CEO of Kering.

Stars for a cause

The inaugural dinner, hosted by Emmy award-winning American broadcast journalist Anderson Cooper, brings together several talented entertainers and political leaders.

The dinner will be hosted at The Park restaurant in New York, and is also being cochaired by Gisele Bndchen, LaTanya Richardson Jackson, Samuel L. Jackson, Julie Mehretu, Gloria Steinem and Her Majesty Queen Rania Al Abdullah of Jordan.

Grammy Award-winning singer Andra Day will perform at the dinner.

The four organizations being supported at the dinner include the National Network to End Domestic Violence (NNEDV), Global Fund for Women, Jordan River Foundation (JRF) and Ms. Foundation for Women. All proceeds from the event will benefit these organizations.

Kering has consistently fostered programs and initiatives that support the advancement of women.

In May, Kering announced its plans to present the 2022 Women in Motion award to American actress and producer Viola Davis at the Festival of Cannes.

The award was established in 2015, coinciding with the launch of Kering's Women in Motion program that showcases women's creativity and contribution to culture and the arts. Previous winners include Jane Fonda, Geena Davis, Susan Sarandon, Isabelle Huppert, Patty Jenkins, Gong Li and Salma Hayek Pinault (see story).
