The list is luxury-laden, honoring several luxury staples like Four Seasons Hotels and Resorts, and giving consumers an opportunity to book their own stays at these coveted spots. With wide-ranging categories, consumers can review winners and plan multi-faceted trips that have award-winning luxury touches from start to finish.

Recognizing excellence

In its 35th year, the Readers' Choice Awards highlight the most favored experiences of Cond Nast Traveler readers.

The winners are separated into categories including hotels, resorts, cruise lines, spas, cities, countries and islands, airlines and airports, trains and more.

All winners are independently selected by the publication's readers.

The "The Best Hotels in the World" distinction has been awarded to Shangri-La Bosphorus, Istanbul; Four Seasons Hotel Bangkok at Chao Phraya River; Four Seasons Hotel Ritz Lisbon; Four Seasons Hotel Dubai International Financial Centre; Mandarin Oriental, Geneva, among others.

"The Best Resorts in the World" list highlights Rosewood Castiglion del Bosco; The St. Regis Bali Resort and more.

Spas honorees include Four Seasons Hotel Hampshire, England; Le Blanc Spa Resort, Los Cabos; Chiva-Som and more.

The awards' "Best Cities in the World" list bares a heavy European influence, honoring Oxford, Bath, Bruges, Galway, Cambridge, Victoria and more.

"Top Countries in the World" lists Portugal, Japan, Thailand, Singapore and India as its top five.

Four Seasons made several appearances throughout this year's awards, as it appears the hospitality brand is contemplating more ways to reach both new and established consumers. The brand has its eyes on an even bigger and brighter future, full of expansion.

Four Seasons is setting sail with its inaugural fleet of yachts set to debut in 2025.

Looking to take to the seas in providing unparalleled luxury experiences, Four Seasons' first yacht, the Four Seasons Yacht, will hold 95 suites. With the experience comes the countless amenities and accouterments that have become synonymous with the Four Seasons brand (see story).
