

NEWS BRIEFS

LVMH, Mulberry, Carolina Herrera, Piaget and Belmond

October 11, 2022

The new season Lily handbag from Mulberry in Double Yellow Heavy Grain. Image credit: Mulberry

By LUXURY DAILY NEWS SERVICE

Luxury Daily's live news for Oct. 10:

LVMH opens new certification session for expansive luxury education

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

French luxury conglomerate LVMH Mot Hennessy Louis Vuitton is once again offering an extensive education on the luxury industry and its internal workings.

Mulberry takes Softie outdoors with new collection

British fashion group Mulberry is expanding on its celebration of the great outdoors with a new collection.

Carolina Herrera, FIT introduce scholarship promoting female representation in fashion

U.S. fashion brand Carolina Herrera is advocating for women with a new scholarship program in collaboration with The Fashion Institute of Technology (FIT).

Piaget, Phillips collaborate on limited-edition earthy timepiece

Swiss jeweler Piaget has partnered with global auction house Phillips in producing a new timepiece.

Belmond, Ruinart take legacy of Champagne to the sea

LVMH-owned hospitality group Belmond and Champagne house Ruinart are transforming the beloved beverage into an experience with a new boat.
