

NEWS BRIEFS

Day's wrap: Tesla, Harrods, Farfetch, Amazon, Luxury State of the Luxury Market 2023 Survey and Luxury Women to Watch 2023

October 21, 2022

Model Y general assembly at Gigafactory Berlin, Tesla's first manufacturing location in Europe. Image credit: Tesla

By LUXURY DAILY NEWS SERVICE

Luxury Daily's live news for Oct. 21:

Tesla reports record revenues and strong earnings for Q3, stock prices sinking

U.S. automaker Tesla has released third-quarter fiscal figures, which notably missed the mark as far as analyst expectations are concerned.

Landmark department store defaced in London climate protest

British department store Harrods is the latest target of a viral climate movement fighting against the U.K. government's fossil-fueled business dealings.

Farfetch announces inaugural Dream Assembly Base Camp cohort

Online retailer Farfetch and partner Outlier Ventures are supporting tech-forward luxury fashion and lifestyle startups, in exchange for equity.

Amazon Luxury Stores, What Goes Around Comes Around launch preowned luxury channel

Ecommerce giant Amazon is adding many of luxury's most coveted names to its platform.

Invitation to participate: State of the Luxury Market 2023 Survey

Luxury Daily invites you to participate in the State of the Luxury Market 2023 Survey. All respondents will receive the executive summary of the report, plus a complimentary copy of a new Unity Marketing trend report, "HENRYs in Recession: How Luxury Brands Can Prepare."

Introducing Luxury Women to Watch 2023

Luxury Daily annually honors smart women executives who show the potential to make a difference next year in the luxury business.

Please click here to read the morning newsletter