

NEWS BRIEFS

Day's wrap: LVMH, Lamborghini, Sephora and Nobu

January 11, 2023

The change-ups within the company go into effect next month, signaling a new era for Louis Vuitton and all involved. Image credit: LVMH/Jean-Francois Robert

By LUXURY DAILY NEWS SERVICE

Luxury Daily's live news for Jan. 11:

LVMH taps Dior CEO to lead Louis Vuitton, Arnault daughter slots into top spot at Dior

French luxury conglomerate LVMH Mot Hennessy Louis Vuitton is announcing the executive appointment of current Christian Dior Couture chief executive and chairman Pietro Beccari as now-chairman and chief executive officer at Louis Vuitton, naming Delphine Arnault as his successor.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Lamborghini achieves record annual delivery numbers, US dominates sales in 2022

Italian automaker Lamborghini reports that 2022 brought more deliveries than ever before.

Sephora named biggest U.S. beauty retailer of 2022: report

LVMH-owned beauty retailer Sephora is the most popular beauty stop in America, according to UK-based online beauty retailer Cosmetify.

Nobu lines up five new hotel openings for 2023

Global hospitality group Nobu is set to open five new hotels this year.

Please click here to read the morning newsletter
