

AUTOMOTIVE

Aston Martin expands workforce across UK

February 19, 2024

The company is hiring over 400 more technicians at its Gaydon, Warwickshire and St. Athan, Wales facilities. Image credit: Aston Martin

By LUXURY DAILY NEWS SERVICE

British automaker Aston Martin is upping its production headcount.

The company is hiring more team members at its manufacturing facilities across the U.K. Recruiting over 400 more technicians in Gaydon, Warwickshire and St. Athan, Wales, the move aims to boost the luxury brand's output of next-generation sports cars.

"We are delighted to be able to increase our manufacturing team across both our facilities in Gaydon and St Athan, creating further employment opportunities for our local communities," said Simon Smith, chief people officer at Aston Martin, in a statement.

"These 400 agency roles, supporting our production plans and introduction of thrilling new products, are a fantastic opportunity for new team members to join us and play their own part in our iconic brand's next chapter."

Driving employment

In establishing the manufacturing jobs, Aston Martin is expanding its capacity significantly.

Aston Martin is preparing to debut new models this year. Image credit: Aston Martin Workforce additions in St. Athan specifically will enable the automaker to keep up with continued demand for the DBX707 SUV (see story) interest in roomier luxury vehicles is also growing in other markets (see story).

The onboarded professionals will work on building 2025 versions of the DB12 coupe and Vantage supercar. Officially introduced by the brand on Feb. 12, deliveries for the latter model are slated for the second quarter of this year.

The brand presented its latest Vantage model this month

The employment effort will also lead to the development and construction of other upcoming Aston Martins, set to debut throughout the year.

Applications are now live at <https://www.manpower.co.uk/minisites/aston-martin/>.

© 2024 Reliance Relocation Services, Inc. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.