The retail giant is letting consumer shop its entire inventory, as well as browse through current offers and promotions. In addition to browsing various categories, consumers can search for specific items or designers.

Saks first announced that they have gone mobile via their Facebook page.

High-end purchases

Consumers can access the mobile site by entering <http://www.saks.com> on their mobile browser.

Saks customers can shop women's apparel, shoes, handbags, jewelry, accessories, beauty, men's, kids, home and sale.

Women's Apparel > Dresses

Day (1253)

Cocktail Party (776)

Evening (100)

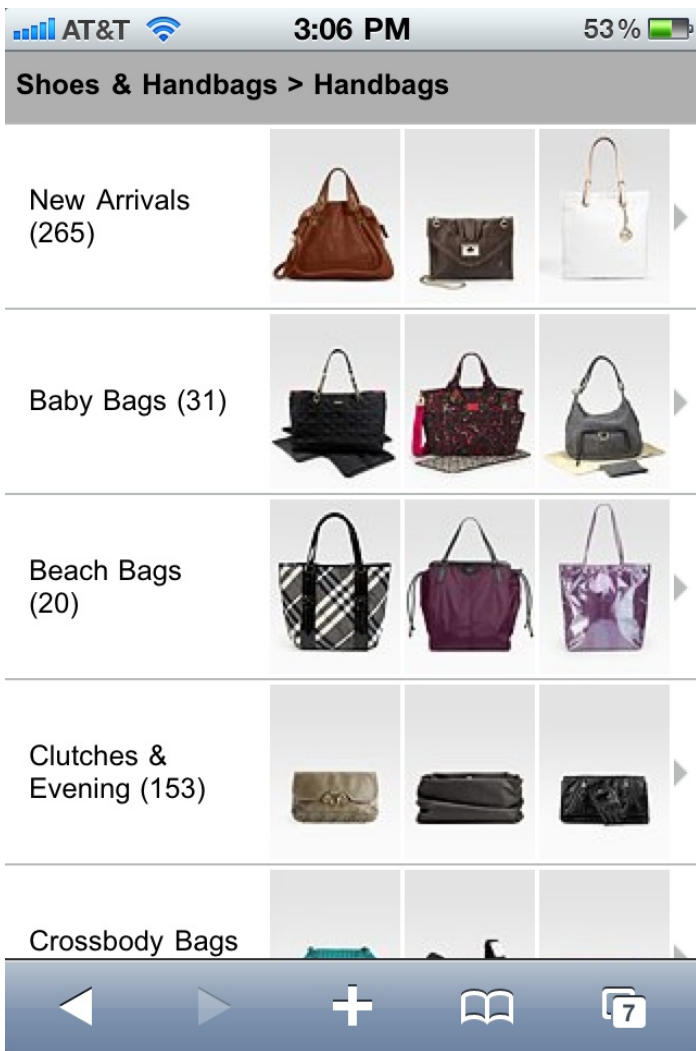

Maxi (18)

Mini (185)

Consumers can shop by various looks and categories

When browsing through the categories, consumers can narrow down their search by new arrivals, specific apparel or by occasion.

Merging online with mobile

Saks offers the same experience as their ecommerce Web site where consumers can browse different views of the products, choose an item, select the size, read a full description and add it to their shopping bag.
